

To whom it may concern,

I would like to say a few things about Venture One Construction and how they handled our renovation of our bathhouse complex at Sunlite Water Adventure. I can't say enough how Venture One has taken this project with an impossible deadline to hit and pulled it off. Jim Scott, our foreman, and his crews could take a 7 to 8-month project and completed it in 3 months. It was no small task I assure you. Jim could bring pressure where needed and had the resources to cover the short falls when it came to manpower. Jim went out of his way to keep myself informed of what was happening and through our design firm was instrumental on hitting opening day. Yes, we had a few punch items but nothing from keeping us from providing our guest with a great opening day experience. I felt Jim was very budget conscience and made solid suggestions for saving or improving the construction process with smart, experienced, and professional alternatives. I would welcome the chance to work with Venture One Construction on any future projects.

Sincerely,
